About our Instructors

Creative Movement ■

After studying at Concordia and York Universities, Les Ateliers de Dance Moderne de Montreal, and The School of Toronto Dance Theatre, Lynette Segal has worked professionally in choreographed and improvisational dance performances. In addition to solo work, she has worked collaboratively with Ben Grossman, Susanna Hood, Karen Kaeja, Janet Johnson, Susan Lee, Yves Candreau, Lisa Nelson (USA), the late Oliver Schroer, Rebecca Todd, and Miranda Tufnell (UK). Her study in somatic movement systems includes Mitzvah, Feldenkrais, Alexander techniques, and Body-Mind Centering. In the spring of 2009, she co-founded Fall on Your Feet, a movement collective based in Guelph focused on teaching and performing movement improvisation. www.lynettesegal.com

Music & Storytelling ■

Shannon Kingsbury is a singer, harpist, composer, and educator. Shannon has taught with many outstanding arts organizations including: Kingsbury Music, Guelph Dance Arts Explosion Camp, Creativity Greenhouse, Season Singers, Musikgarten of Guelph and Waterside Arts. Shannon holds certificates in Early Childhood Music, Orff, Voice, Music Theory and Kodaly. Little campers will love using their voices, bodies, small instruments, and props in creative music play. The energetic music session will be followed by an enchanting visit to the "magic dressing room" for stories.

Visual Arts ■ ■ ■ ■

Emma Martin has been creating art since she was a child, and has been teaching art to children for over 15 years. She has her Bachelor of Education in Fine Art and has taught both in public schools and various studios. Emma is looking forward to being a part of Guelph Dance Arts Explosion Camp this summer and nurturing the artistic growth of children. She paints, sews and crochets in her spare time and always has some creative project on the go!

Jazz Dance ■ ■

Kelly Steadman is a graduate of Ryerson University's BFA program in Dance and Theatre Studies. Currently she is an active member of the Dancetheatre David Earle community and a dance educator at the Guelph Youth Dance Training Program. In the past, Kelly has worked independently with various professional choreographers as well as created works for local dance students. She is also a founding member of Fall On Your Feet Movement Collective, which explores movement improvisation.

Rise Up Singing! ■ ■

Carey West is a musician and educator whose work focuses on roots music traditions. For the last 15 years she has provided vocals for a diverse selection of bands working in genres such as Jazz, Blues, Reggae, Ska, Bluegrass and Folk. Carey studied music education at The Royal Conservatory of Music where she completed Orff Levels I & II. Working as a music specialist in an elementary school for the last decade, she enjoys sharing her experience as a performer with children in order to lead students towards successful self-expression using poetry, movement, percussion, and voice.

This workshop will use games, dance and song from the Blues and Jazz traditions inviting children to explore themes of resilience and co-operation. This "come as you are" music-making experience will allow children to express their individuality within a group while developing percussion and vocal skills. Based on Doug Goodkin's "Now's the Time" Jazz curriculum, but being sure to include a Canadian perspective, this class will focus on the fun to be had turning troubles into tales in which the hero (us!) emerges triumphant.

Contemporary Dance ■ ■

Catrina von Radecki has studied and taught at the innovative European Dance Development Centre in Arnhem Holland and Düsseldorf, Germany as well as independently in Montreal, Kitchener, Waterloo and Guelph. She has danced for the internationally-renowned Compagnie Marie Chouinard (Montreal), Dance Alliance (Germany) and various independent choreographers (Montreal, Guelph). Catrina has been creating her own work since 1992, when she graduated from Concordia University's dance department (Montreal) and in 1996 formed Foreign Feet Dance Theatre Company with actress/writer Wendy Agnew. Catrina is the Co-Founder/Artistic Director of Guelph Dance, which has brought dance to thousands of people in the past sixteen years and is the co-founder of the Guelph Youth Dance Training Program.
